

Film Night

Wednesday 12th April 2017
At the Museum 7:30pm start

Starting the show is a colour film on the 100th Bomb Group. It shows on base scenes, superb aerial shots and scenes of the local area. The colour, the clarity and the content of this film makes for some of the best quality footage taken of any 8th AF unit. Then by special request, we are showing "Memphis Belle" The 1944 William Wyler film. This is a restored version...so once again, great colour and clarity. Plus full supporting programme. So once again, if you've been to these shows before, you'll know you won't be disappointed.

Tickets priced at £5 (members £4) Tickets will be available on a first come first serve basis, and can be reserved by sending a cheque for the full amount (payable to the '100th Bomb Group Memorial Museum') to the following address: Mrs Margaret Hopgood, 12 Needham Rd, Harleston, Norfolk, IP20 9JY. Tel: 01379 853274.

The cost of admission includes tea/coffee during the interval. (Snacks extra)

NOTE: Due to the limited size of the museum's Varian Centre, we can only cater for up to 90 people, and although tickets should be available on the night, we cannot guarantee that there will be seats available without an advance ticket.
